Your military service is over, but invisible wounds of service can remain. If you suffer from frequent nightmares, are constantly on edge, jump at sudden noises, prefer to stay at home more and more, or become disconnected from your family and friends, Emory Healthcare Veterans Program is here to help.

The program, which is free to qualified post-9/11 military servicemembers and veterans, features leading specialists in the world in treating the invisible wounds of military service. Together, we’ll chart a course of treatment customized for each warrior that will put him/her on the path to peace of mind and the best life.

Who is Eligible?
Emory Healthcare Veterans Program currently serves military servicemembers and veterans from anywhere in the United States who have served at least one day post 9/11 and are dealing with the mental and emotional aftereffects of military service. Warriors are eligible for treatment regardless of discharge status, deployment history, or length of service.

What We Treat
Emory Healthcare Veterans Program takes a collaborative approach to healing, beginning with a comprehensive individual assessment conducted by top specialists in the fields of psychiatry, psychology, neurology, rehabilitative medicine, and wellness.

Assessment results map the course for individual care and may include treatment for:

- PTSD (Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder)
- TBI (Traumatic Brain Injury)
- MST (Military Sexual Trauma)
- Anxiety
- Depression

Life-Enhancing Treatment at No Cost
Servicemembers and veterans receiving treatment from the Emory Healthcare Veterans Program incur no out-of-pocket costs associated with care, transportation, lodging and meals. If insured, the program pays any costs not covered by the veteran’s insurance. If uninsured, the program pays the entire cost.

Treatment Options
Emory Healthcare Veterans Program offers two no-cost treatment paths:

Intensive Outpatient Program
A two-week program that also covers the cost of transportation, lodging and meals.

Traditional Outpatient Program
This option is better suited for those living in close proximity and who are unable to dedicate two weeks.

Depending on each warrior’s customized treatment program, the following services may be provided:

- Talk therapy (individual and group)
- Virtual reality exposure therapy (VRE)
- Medication
- Acupuncture
- Yoga
- Massage
- Stress management skills
- Sleep training
- Finance & careers training
